Faculty

Coming from Experience...

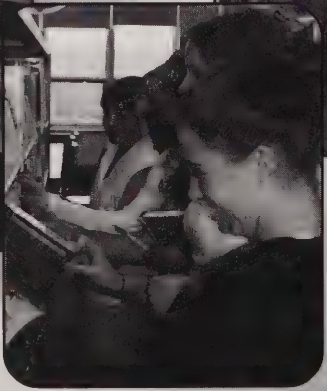
Bringing many perspectives to the classroom, the faculty at M.H.S. is bubbling with experience. Inturn, this wealth of knowledge is passed onto the students here at M.H.S.

Guidance & Library

Mr. Bardwell

Mrs. Groom

Books, books, and more books... If you are looking for assistance on a challenging midterm paper or are simply looking for the latest issue of National Geographic, the library is the place to be. Mr. Morin and Mrs. Germain are there to expose students to the hidden knowledge that lies within the depths of their books. If computer resources are needed, the internet is readily available as well in the library.



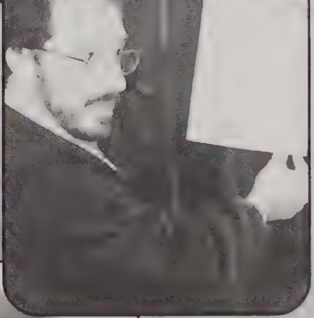
Mr. Morin

Through good and bad days, thick and thin, the guidance department is always available to support the students of MHS. Whether faced with the frustrations of everyday life or the complexities of choosing the "perfect college," our guidance counselors, Mr. Bardwell and Mrs. Groom, help to guide students in the right direction. Mrs. Devine, our career facilitator, aids in the process of discovering our true career ambitions through programs such as Work Based Learning and Tech Prep. However, all this could not be possible without Mrs. Goodrich, the guidance secretary who always has plenty of mints to go around.

Mr. O'Connor

Music

RHYTHM
TONE COLOR
EXPRESSION



Shake your groove thang! MHS was extremely fortunate to be able to host two musical performances this year. The entire student body came to together to listen and love magnificent compostitions of jazz and classical music. Mr. O'Conner has also worked very this year to create the Harmonic Minors, MHS's first show choir.

Art

Mr. Devine

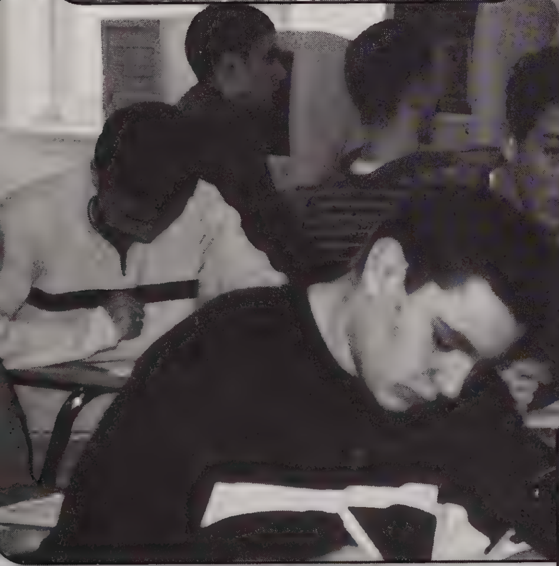
Ms. Willis

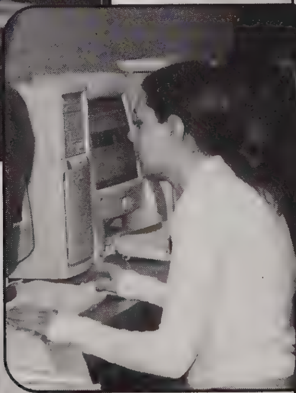
With spunk and personality, Mr. Devine and Ms. Willis bring life to the classroom through the realm of art. By exposing students to new mediums such as acrylic paints, clay, charcoal and conte crayon, MHS students are able to become artists for a block. New matierals, art forms, and experiences linger around every corner in our art rooms. Field trips to exciting locations such as New York City, broaden perceptions, as students are able to witness the masterpieces of Picasso and Matisse firsthand.

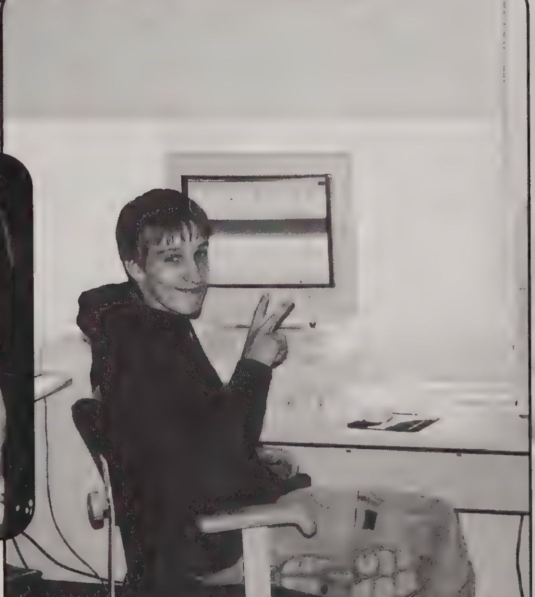
Business

Mr. Poulin

Mr. Lucas





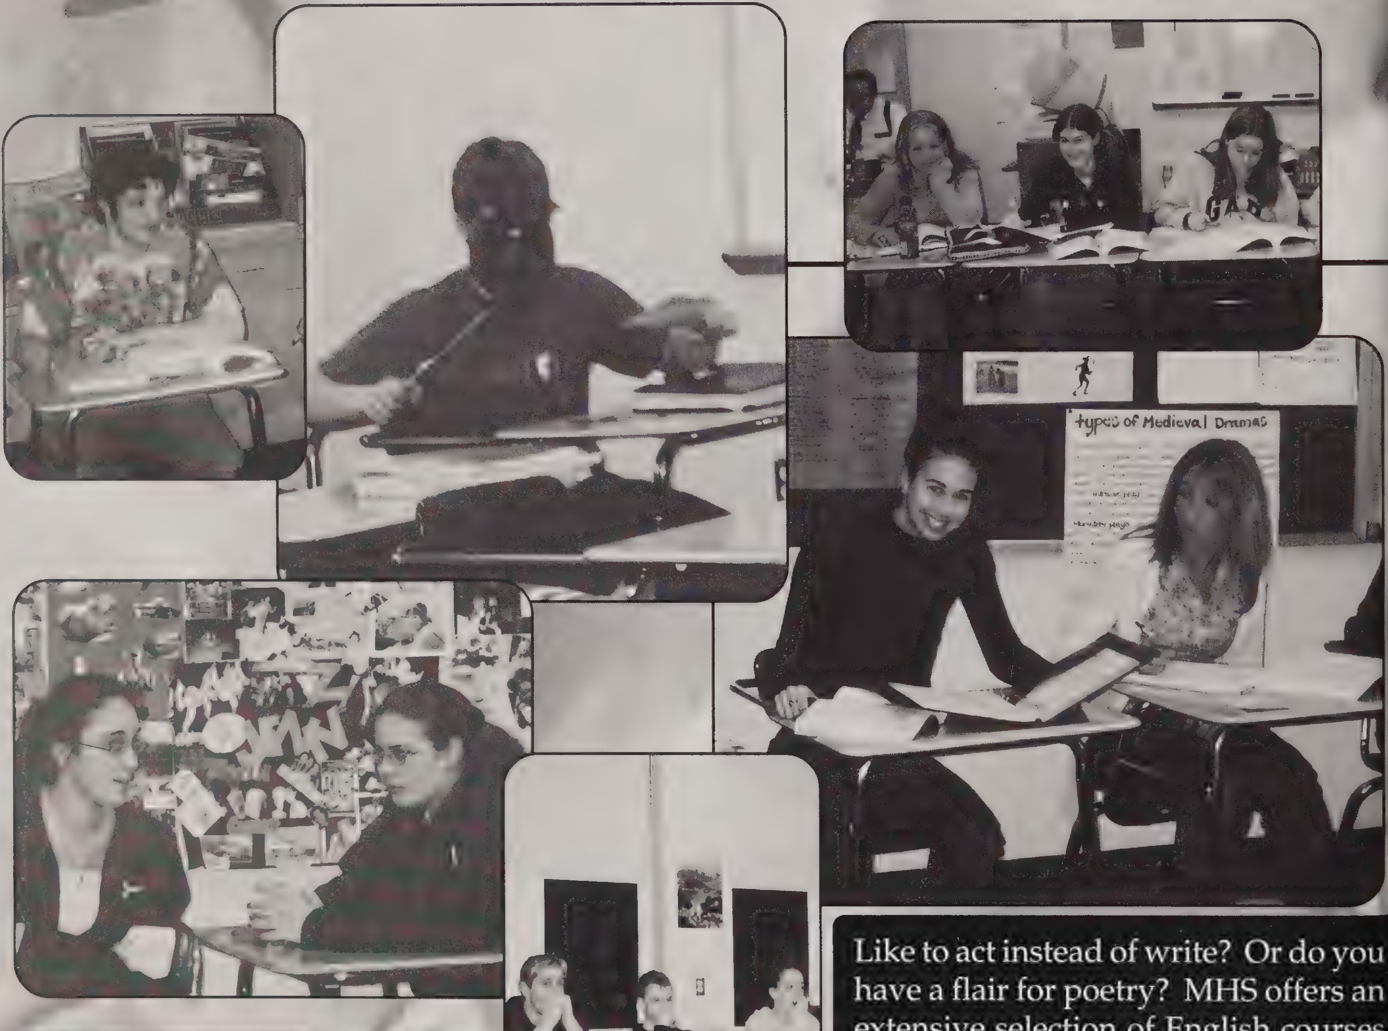


So how is that stock market? Is Microsoft up again? By taking a business course, students are helping to get a jump on the competition and struggles that lie within large and small corporations. Mr. Poulin and Mr. Lucas pave the foundation that allows students to step into realities of common transactions. Whether its focusing on basic computer skills or running your own company, these teachers provide the crucial information for making it in the real world.

English

Mr. Renaud

Mr. Murray



Ms. Doherty

Mrs. Chojnowski

Like to act instead of write? Or do you have a flair for poetry? MHS offers an extensive selection of English courses and electives from Drama to Journalism. The Monson High Players performed the play "Sing On" under the advisement of Mr. Renaud. Ms. Doherty's classes were enthuised about reading, and were even able to meet with the author of the book, "Polka shoes", while Mrs. Chojnowski and Mr. Murray continued to incorporate style and personality into the English spectrum.

Foreign Language

Mrs. Cartier

Senora Webster

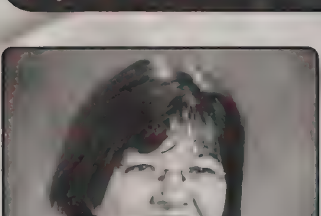
Hola Madame. Confused?! Well, you should be! Offering French and Spanish, these classes incorporate dance, rhyme, songs, and games create an interactive environment for students. Senora Webster, Madame Butler, and Senora Cartier make a "fantastique" trio. This year it seems that Spanish has escaped the classroom, as students witnessed Senora Webster dance the night away at Winter Carnival.

Madame Butler

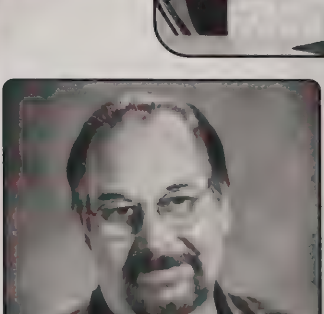
Mathematics

Mrs. Arment

Mr. Targonski



Mrs. Mesheau



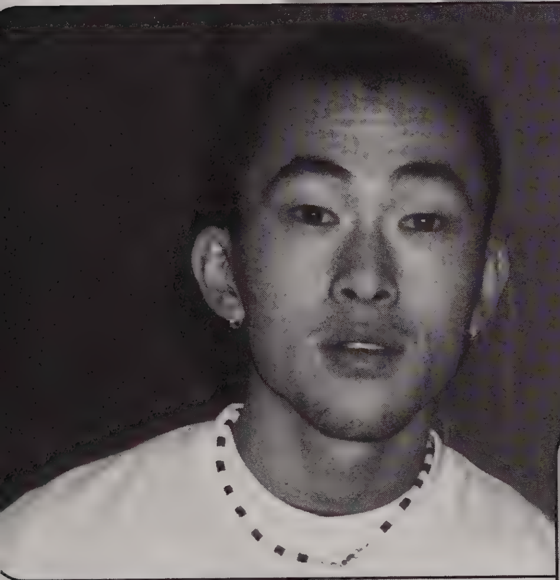
Mr. Wendry

Pythagorean Thereoms, the normal curve, octagons, and logarithms are a bit of the complex terminology that can be heard within MHS's various mathematics classrooms. Taught by Mr. Targonski, Mrs. Arment, Mr. Wendry, and Mrs. Mesheau, these concrete concepts are brought into a three-dimensional form. Students are taught to calculate intense problems through the use of various types of graphing calculators and computer programs.

Mrs. Shaw

Mr. Degnan

Physical Education & Health



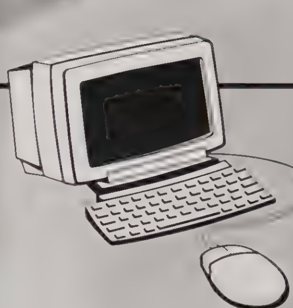
Kick it. Jump. Spike it. Bump it. Shoot! Sick of sitting at your desk? Physical Education is a way to release your energy and interact with other students. Perhaps though, you are more concerned with your mental health. For you, MHS offers various family and child oriented classes, not to mention classes that are centered about your own well-being.

Mrs. Evans

Mr. Kosikowski

Technology Education

Mr. Lemanski

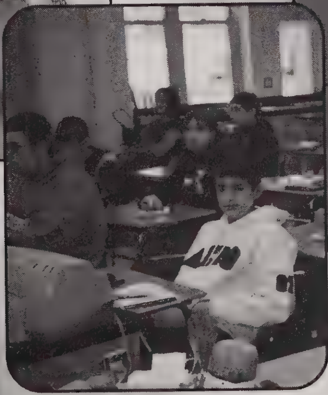


Good with your hands? Technology classes allow students to get a feel for woodworking and the concepts of mechanical engineering. These classes permit students to expand their imagination and create masterpieces. Skills learned benefit students throughout their lifetime, as these lessons endure. For those who aren't bookworms, tech. ed. can be an exciting adventure.

Science

Mrs. McDonald

Mrs. Iby



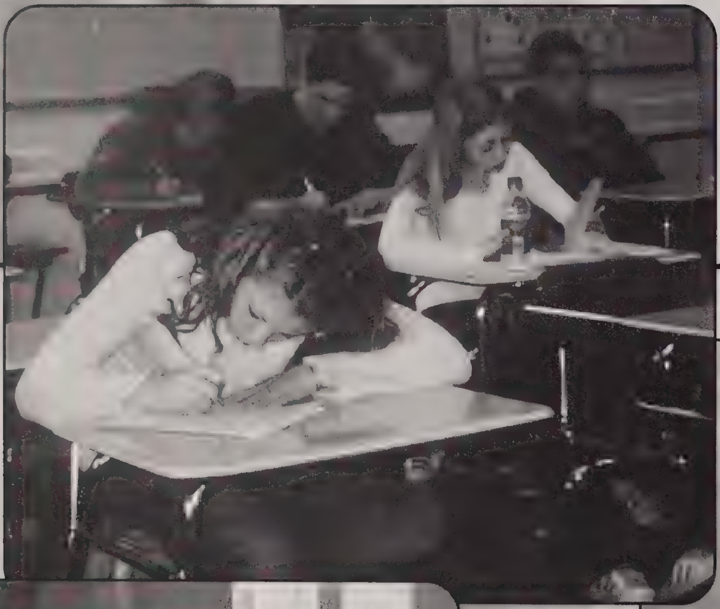
Goodbye Slowick...Hellllooo Mr. Grant! Our new Biology teacher is very entertaining as well as informative. (We wouldn't want to give him a bad rap, if you know what I mean.) It seems that Senora is not our only singing sensation, as Mr. Grant knew how to work the crowd at the Halloween Ball. But, back to business... Mrs. McDonald continued to experiment on student's minds in Chemistry I and II. While, Mrs. Iby introduced freshmen to physical science.

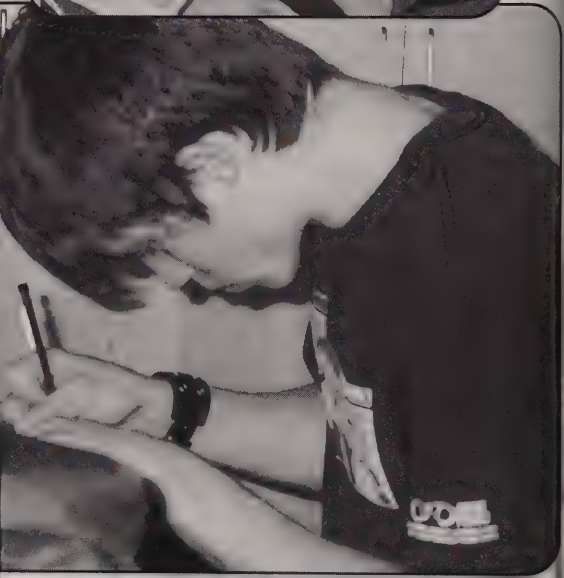
Mr. Grant

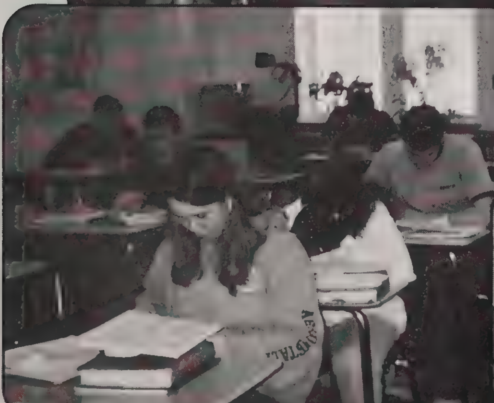
Social Studies

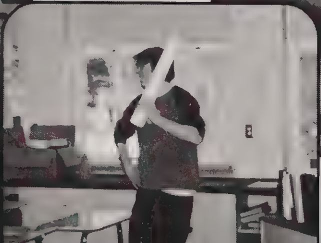
Mrs. Halsall

Mr. Vossen

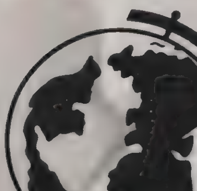








"Great Spew!!!" What can you say? History can be dull, but with devoted teachers, history can be brought to life. A perfect example of this can be witnessed on any day in Mr. Vossen's classroom. "Spewing" has entered the vocabulary of every 20th Century student, as it refers to a dramatic entrance after time travel. Mrs. Halsall and Mr. Roebuck animate students with their pizazz and spirit.



Mr. Roebuck

Clubs

Going Far...

After having only four members in 2001-2002, the Debate Team grew to thirteen members this year . The team had an excellent season finishing third in a league of eleven. The team of Morgan O'Neil, Jessica Hacket, ELiza Squires, and Chelsea Dumas won a first place trophy for winning their division at the annual awards banquet. Although we will miss our three graduating seniors, next year the Monson team will be a favorite to win the league championship. The team is coached by Mr. Poulin and assistant Mr. Tighe.

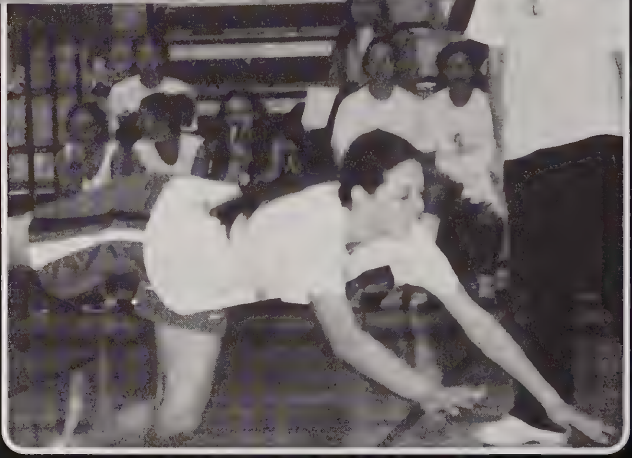
Coming to Life..



Throughout the school year, various events are held to promote school spirit and social interaction. Dances, the talent show and other activities keep a school focus, while allowing people to show their true colors outside of the classroom.

Halloween Ball

In October the Student Council sponsored the first Monson Halloween Costume Ball. A great time was had by all who attended!!! It was a full evening of costumes, dancing and entertainment. To everyone's delight Mr. Grant indulged students by performing his Humpty rap on stage. The night concluded with prizes awarded to Garrett Hall and Eliza Squires who came dressed as Hannibal Lector and Clarice.

1st Annual Mr. M.H.S. Contest

A busy Student Council sponsored the first annual Mr. MHS Contest this fall. Senior males competed in the areas of talent, swimsuit, formal and casual wear, in addition to a question and answer session for the title of Mr. Monson High School. After a fun filled evening hosted by Mr. Degnan and Ms. Willis, Zack Battige was named Mr. Personality, Greg Woodbury was first runner up and Teddy Manley was crowned Mr. MHS.

Winter Carnival

Despite numerous postponements, the tradition of Winter Carnival carried on. During the Interclass competition, the seniors dominated the gym floor as usual, by sweeping points away from the underclassmen, while the juniors came in a close second. Meanwhile, at the Winter Carnival Dance, seniors Josh Blinn and Joanne Stacy were crowned King and Queen of the event.

One Acts & Talent Show

Once again, students were placed into the limelight during the performances that took place for the Talent Show and One Acts. As usual, the Talent Show had some impressive and outlandish performances. At One Acts, the class of 2003 came out on top once again, with their play "Empty Chair." The powerful message of this play, which focused on drug addiction, caused repeat performances of this work at both the middle school and the high school.

M.H.S. & NYC

After a long, long bus ride, Monson students finally arrived in the Big Apple for an artsy field trip. Students were able to explore Times Square in the wee morning hours, while later venturing to the Picasso, Matisse Exhibit at the MoMa in Queens. Thus, art students were able to get a taste of architecture and art history, while having a great time together.

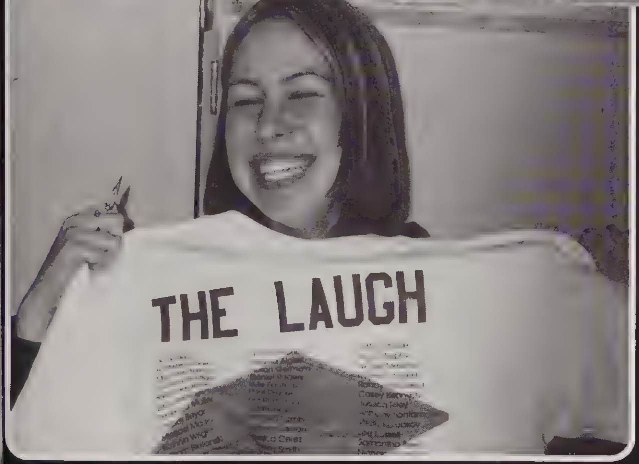
Going Out in Style...



Senior year... a time of anticipation, stress, excitement, and new beginnings. As a class, students watched themselves grow apart as each person finalized their decision as to what they would be doing in the fall of 2003. Yet, these same students would come together in a last hurrah for senior week.

t has been about more than learning the naterial long enough to pass a test, but bout a gradual absorption of ideas that ave shaped us as people and defined who ve are and how we see the world. Now t our term here is complete, we owe it to rselves and to those who have worked so ard to give us these gifts to use them to nprove ourselves and to enrich our lives.
e have been given the resources to thrive
n the outside world, but whether or not we choose to use them is up to us.
emember, in the words of Ralph Waldo nerson, " What lies behind us and what lies before us are tiny matters when compared to what lies within us."'' xcerpted from Paul Dreyer's Valedictory
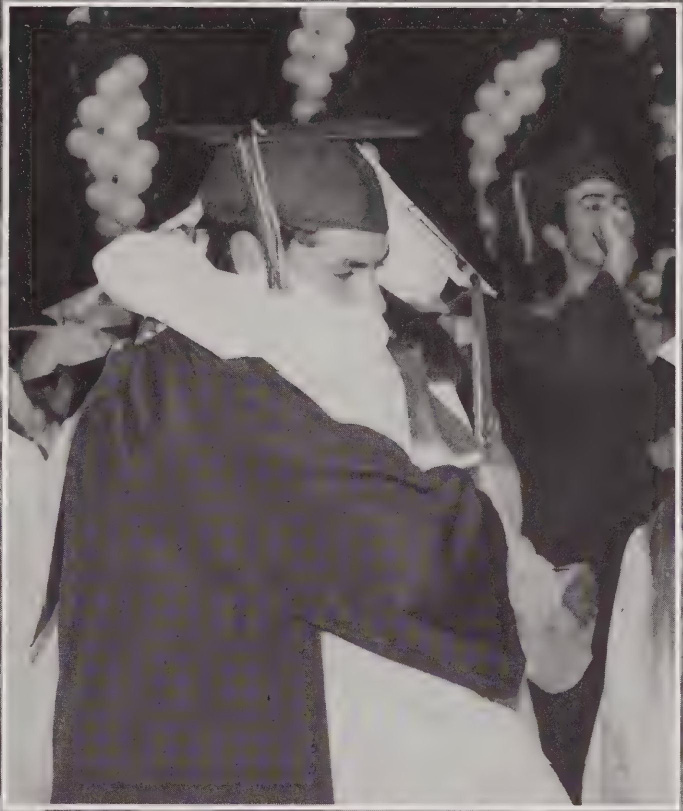
Address



"We have been granted the foresight and capability to see beyond this facade of grandeur. Our thoughts and decisions create us and their consequences teach us. Though we intermittently slip, we regain focus and continue dream-driven. We are neither pessimists nor optimists; we pursue our individual purpose understanding that sacrifice and pain compliment all success. Harnessing talent, the athletes, artists, and scholars of tomorrow, will advance society in ways only imaginable." Exerpted from Anthony Santamaria's Salutatory Address
